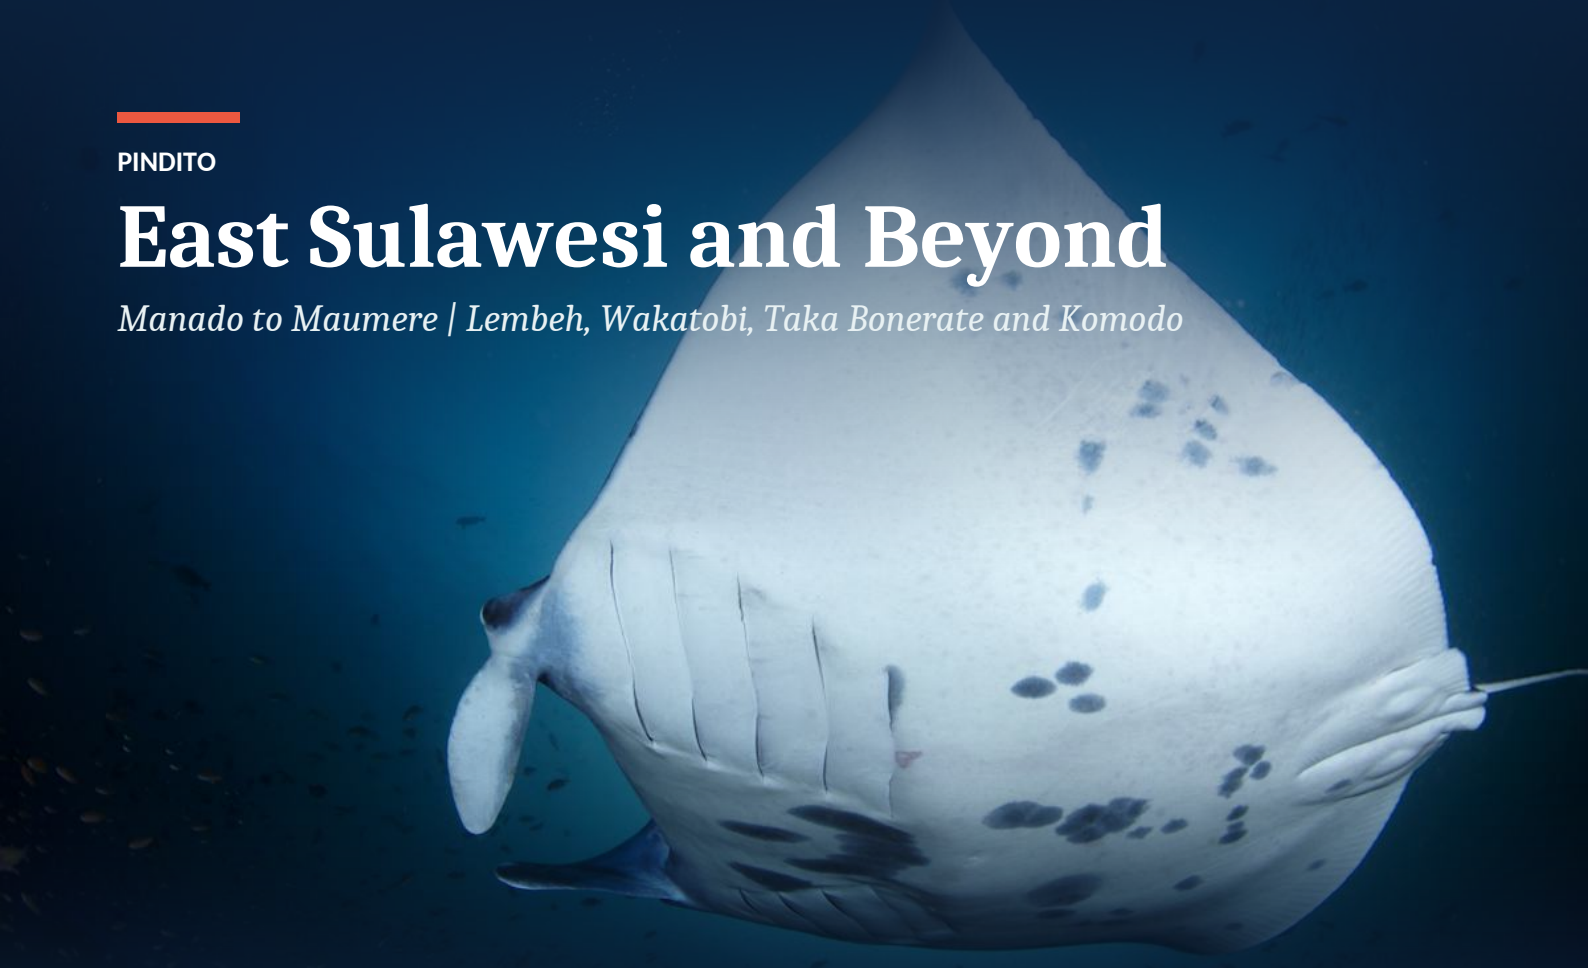
PINDITO

East Sulawesi and Beyond

Manado to Maumere | Lembeh, Wakatobi, Taka Bonerate and Komodo



This long journey crosses the Coral Triangle from the north of Sulawesi to the island of Flores.

It begins in the black sand of the Lembeh Strait, home to some of the strangest small creatures in the sea.

The route then follows the eastern side of Sulawesi, from the coral walls of Gorontalo and the remote reefs of Pulau Dua to the Banggai Islands, Manui and the protected waters of Wakatobi.

Further south come the remote reefs of Batuata, the great atoll of Taka Bonerate and Komodo National Park.

Sixteen nights give time to see how the reefs, islands and landscapes change along the way.

Trip highlights

1

Lembeh Strait

Calm waters over black volcanic sand, with muck diving and some reefs and wrecks.
It is known for flamboyant cuttlefish, blue ringed octopus, hairy frogfish and mimic octopus.

2

Gorontalo

Towering coral walls, limestone formations and caverns, with Salvador Dali sponges, schooling barracuda and the chance of whale sharks.

3

Pulau Dua

A remote island with steep drop offs, schooling fish, reef sharks, eagle rays and healthy hard and soft corals.

4

Banggai Islands

Clear water, reefs, walls and muck diving, and the home of the endemic Banggai cardinalfish, with barracuda and reef sharks.

5

Manui

Untouched reefs and drop offs with strong currents that draw in pelagic fish, reef sharks and macro life.

6

Wakatobi

A protected marine park of healthy coral, walls and seagrass beds, with turtles, reef sharks and macro life.

7

Batuata Island

Remote reefs and drop offs, with reef sharks, schooling fish and manta rays.

8

Taka Bonerate

The third largest atoll system in the world, with wall, drift and macro dives, reef sharks, turtles and schooling fish.

9

Komodo National Park

A UNESCO World Heritage Site with strong currents, manta rays, reef sharks, barracuda and macro life, and Komodo dragons on land.

GOOD TO KNOW

On land and on the way

Komodo dragons

Komodo National Park is home to the Komodo dragon, which can be seen on land.
