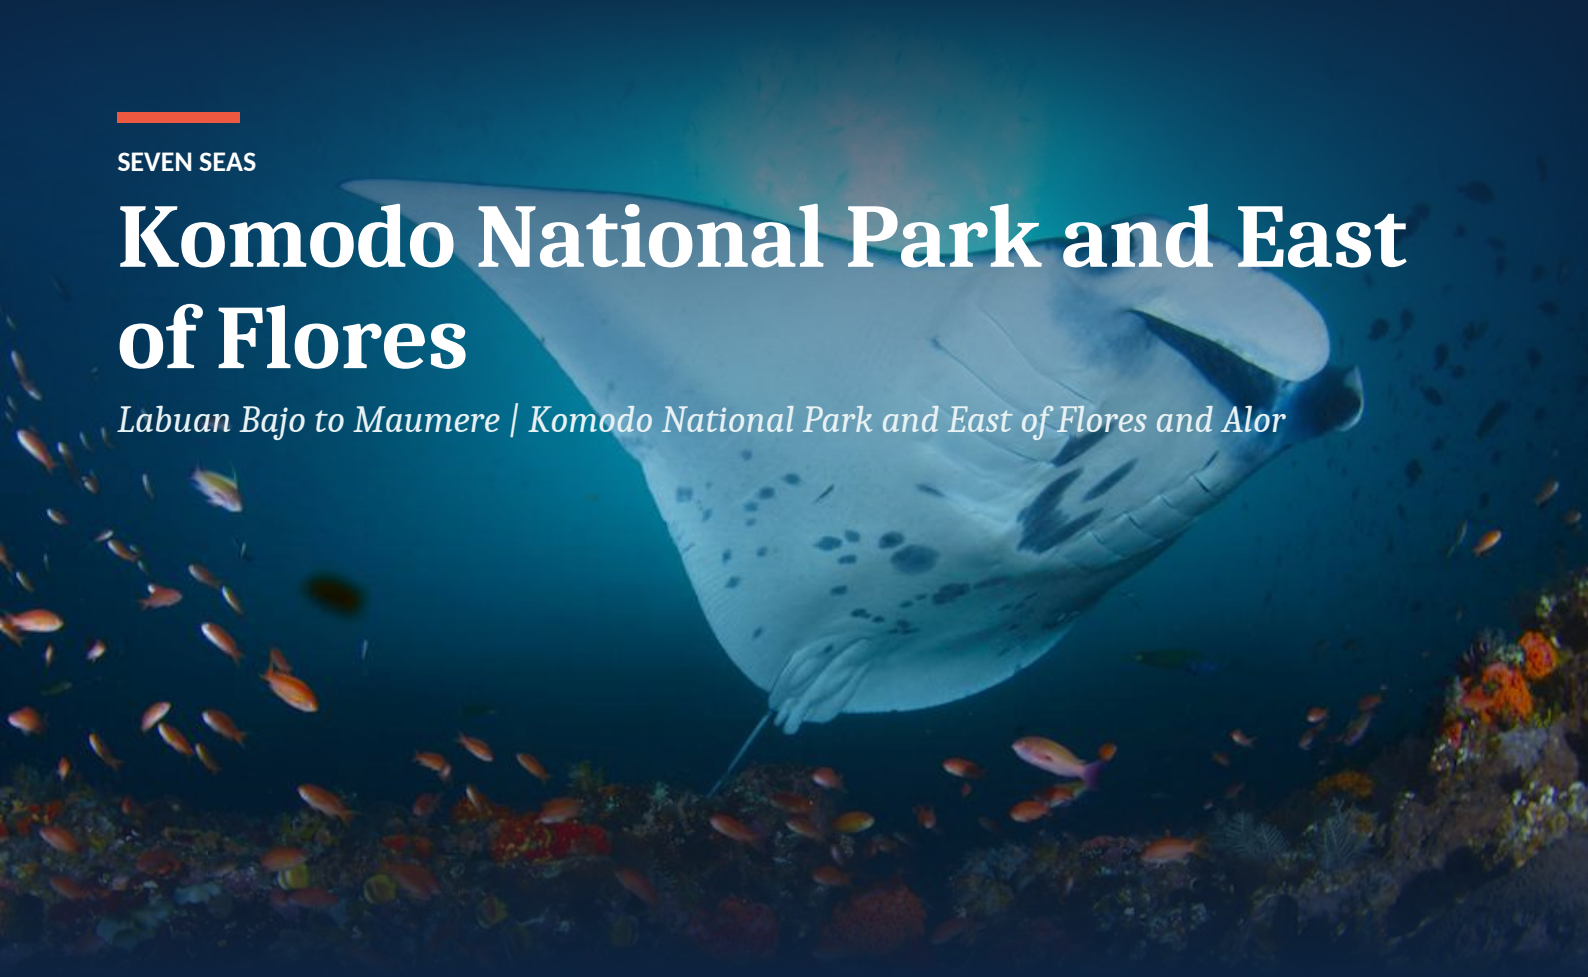
SEVEN SEAS

Komodo National Park and East of Flores

Labuan Bajo to Maumere | Komodo National Park and East of Flores and Alor



Two of Indonesia's great dive regions in one trip, Komodo and the remote islands east of Flores.

Komodo brings seamounts swirling with sharks and pelagic species, and underwater canyons with feeding mantas.

Further east the walls are covered in hard and soft corals, rocky pinnacles bring schools of tuna, and the muck dives hold frogfish, octopus and the rare Rhinopias, the holy grail of underwater photography.

The deep channels between the islands are an important migration route for whales and dolphins.

Above it all, the peaks of rugged volcanoes punctuate an endless horizon.

LENGTH	DEPARTURE PORT	ARRIVAL PORT	EXPERIENCE
10 nights	Labuan Bajo	Maumere	Certified divers

Your itinerary

1

Komodo National Park

Jurassic Park revisited.
Komodo National Park is recognised as a UNESCO World Heritage site for its stunning diversity of natural beauty, and is without a doubt one of the best places on earth to explore on a liveaboard boat trip.

2

East of Flores and Alor

Unspoiled and remote.
Recognised as one of Asia's top 10 dive destinations, the archipelago east of Flores is one of the favourite areas to explore on a Seven Seas dive adventure.

WORTH KNOWING

Key notes

Good to know

Water temperature: Generally 24 to 30°C, warmest in the north and coolest in the south during the southeast monsoon.

Good to know

Best time to dive: Year round, with the best diving in the north during the southeast monsoon and in the south during the northwest monsoon.

Good to know

Dry season: May to November.

Good to know

Rainy season: December to April.