AMBAI

Triton Bay and Raja Ampat

Kaimana to Sorong | Triton Bay, Momon, Sabuda and Misool

The legendary Raja Ampat area has long been thought of as the last frontier.

A sense of peacefulness surrounds you when exploring the area: one of the last, rare untouched places on earth.

This trip combines the two diving hot spots of West Papua: the magnificent Triton Bay area and the magic South Raja Ampat.

In Triton Bay, soft corals crowd the shallows, black and tubastrea corals below them are alive with sweetlips and snappers, and the sandy bottom hides nudibranchs and frogfish.

Whale sharks come to the fishing platforms that bring in the baitfish, and diving beneath them is a highlight.

Misool closes the trip with mantas, massive schools of fish and rocky ridges draped in soft corals and huge gorgonians.

Your route

STOP 1

Triton Bay

The development of soft corals there has little equivalent in the world.
On most of the dives we generally find the soft corals in the shallows (0-5m) on rock and bommies, then come the black and tubastrea corals with lot of sweetlips and snappers.
Below 12-15m the bottom is mostly sandy or rubble with interesting critters (nudibranchs, frogfish).
Some spots can have a lot of baitfish, eventually attracting devil rays and other predators.
The “bagans” are platforms for baitfish fishing at night, eventually attracting the whale sharks.
We dive there in the morning, in small groups of 4 guests turning on 30 minutes shifts.

STOP 2

Momon and Sabuda

Momon is a very special place for it’s magnificent landscape.
The mountainous coast is covered with primary forest and a river from the highlands ends up into the sea as a large glorious waterfall (we go to swim and play there).
A small islet have thousands of bats flying out at sunset.
We dive on a seamount outside the coast: huge school of jacks, napoleon wrasse, eventually manta and even whale shark.
The bat islet is a good macro dive.
One night navigation brings us to Sabuda, at mid-way between Misool and the coast of Papua.
It is a very scenic group of islands with beautiful lagoons and white sand beaches.
The diving is interesting with big schools of fish (surgeon fish, trevallies, barracudas), eventually mantas rays.
A second night of navigation is necessary to reach Misool.

STOP 3

Misool

The 5 last days of the trip are in the South of Raja Ampat, around Misool and its satellites islets.
Excellent for wide angle pictures, mantas, and massive schools of fish.
The underwater topography is dominantly rocky, with ridges and rock formations.
The very colorful reefs display an abundance of soft corals and huge gorgonians.
Macro subjects are abundant as well, with the four kinds of pygmy seahorses, tiny crabs, nudibranchs, and other rare photogenic life all over.
The last dive of the trip is at 8 AM on the penultimate day, and we reach Sorong before 4 AM on the last day.

GOOD TO KNOW

On land and on the way

Ashore

In Triton Bay the dinghies ride into the lagoons at dawn, among quartz islets covered in rainforest and the songs of thousands of birds, and stop below a cliff with ancient rock paintings. At Momon there is a short afternoon trek in the rainforest, and in Misool you snorkel in a natural shark nursery and hike to the viewpoint of a lagoon in the shape of a heart.

Dive count

A minimum of 36 dives, which is 3 dives per day, is offered, including at least 6 night dives.

How the diving works

Divers go in groups of up to four with a dive guide, with a briefing before every dive. Nitrox is free for certified divers, and divers are asked to stay within no deco limits, to a maximum depth of 35 metres.

Snorkelling

The trip is open to snorkellers, with a lot to see in shallow water at most dive sites, and specific guidance for snorkellers.

Visibility and water

Typically 10 to 20 metres in Raja Ampat, clear in Sabuda and Momon, and an average of 10 metres in Triton Bay, lower after heavy rain. The water is between 28 and 30°C all year.

Currents

Currents are generally moderate on most dive sites, and there is always the possibility of a dive in a current-protected area. The guides check the current before each dive and brief you on the conditions, and the crew picks the right place at the right time.
