RAJA AMPAT AGGRESSOR

Derawan Islands

Berau to Berau | Sangalaki, Kakaban, Maratua, Talisayan and Derawan

Small, remote atolls off the coast of Borneo, in what is considered the second most biodiverse place in the world.

Sangalaki is famous for its large population of turtles and manta rays all year round, with whale sharks often seen off the coast, and at Talisayan whale sharks swim under the fishing platforms of the local fishermen.

Maratua has tornadoes of barracuda, grey reef sharks, thresher sharks and schooling eagle rays, while around Derawan the macro life is a haven of the weird and wonderful, with Satomi pygmy seahorses and sea dragons.

Kakaban finishes with a non-stinging jellyfish lake in the middle of the island.
