RAJA AMPAT AGGRESSOR

Raja Ampat, Halmahera and Lembeh

Sorong and Bitung | Raja Ampat, Halmahera and Lembeh Strait

Two of Indonesia's best diving regions in one sweep, from the manta cleaning station and huge schools of fish of Raja Ampat to the macro muck diving of the Lembeh Strait.

Misool is renowned as the centre of pygmy seahorses and gorgonians, with vertical walls, caves and lagoons covered in hard and soft corals.

In between lies remote Halmahera, with pinnacles encircled by massive schools of barracuda, and current-cooled seamounts and walls with sharks and tuna.

Lembeh is a macro diver's dream, teeming with life from rare seahorses and flamboyant cuttlefish to intricate nudibranchs and elusive octopuses.

Graceful turtles glide through clear water over its reefs and walls.
