THEIA

Deep South: All the Way to the Equator

Male to Gan | North Male, South Male, Vaavu, Meemu, Thaa, Laamu, Gaafu, Fuvahmulah and Addu

Join Theia for an unforgettable diving journey across the far south of the Maldives.

You start in North Male, South Male and Vaavu Atolls, where the first dives introduce you to a great mix of sharks, turtles, eagle rays and pelagic life.

The adventure goes on through Thaa and Laamu Atolls, where lively reefs and big schools of fish give a perfect balance of thrilling encounters and peaceful underwater scenery.

After a night crossing, Gaafu Atoll awaits, with dynamic channels known for strong currents and rich pelagic action, especially several species of shark.

The journey ends in Fuvahmulah and Addu Atolls with rare highlights such as tiger sharks and manta rays, a truly spectacular finale.

Between dives you can relax with a massage and the jacuzzi on board, a perfect blend of adventure and comfort.

Your itinerary

DAY 1

Embarkation

No diving today

A representative picks you up at Male airport and takes you to the boat.
You are welcomed with a drink and the cruise manager's briefing, dinner is served in the evening, and the first night is spent at Hulhumale marina.

DAY 2

North Male to South Male to Vaavu Atoll

Up to 3 dives

The trip will start by exploring the long reefs of North Male Atoll.
Corals are abundant here, providing an exceptional home for many fish and smaller creatures.
After the first dive, we will sail to Vaavu Atoll to get straight into the heart of the action.
There is nothing more exciting than watching sharks, rays, and jacks crevalles searching for food.

DAY 3

Vaavu Atoll to Meemu Atoll

Up to 3 dives

In addition to the exceptional topography and marine life, you will also visit the virgin reefs of Meemu Atoll.
The excellent channel covered with steep walls and overhangs covered in soft corals.
A great chance to encounter hammerheads with grey sharks, white tip sharks, eagle rays, napoleons and turtles.

DAY 4

Meemu Atoll to Thaa Atoll

Up to 3 dives

Travelling south, you will discover a varied topography of channels and thilas with coral gardens and overhangs.
You will also encounter reef sharks, schools of jack fishes, and eagle rays.
We will anchor at Thaa Atoll for the night, with the possibility of encountering a whale shark during the night.

DAY 5

Thaa, Laamu and North Gaafu Atoll

Up to 3 dives

Laamu Atoll is characterized by drift dives and deep canals that attract sharks, rays, jacks crevalles, and tunas.
You will also discover intact caves and drop-offs.
The central the lagoon hosts large shoals of parrotfish, triggerfish and turtles.

DAY 6

North Gaafu Atoll

Up to 3 dives

The largest atoll in the south of the Maldives is a paradise for sharks.
You will encounter grey reef sharks, white tip sharks, silver tip sharks, and black tip sharks, especially in Viligili Kandu and Kooddoo Kandu—some of the most famous channels in this atoll.

DAY 7

North and South Gaafu Atoll

Up to 3 dives

After a last dive in Vilingili Kandu, we will continue heading south, exploring the different channels of Gaafu Atoll, which offer exciting drift dives and beautiful coral gardens.

DAY 8

Gaafu South Atoll

Up to 3 dives

The south of Gaafu offers a wide choice of channels and rich coral life inside the atoll, with strong chances of encountering dolphins and sailfish during a drift dive in Mareeha Channel.
After the last dive of the day, we will position the boat near the atoll exit to allow for overnight navigation to Fuvahmulah.

DAY 9

Fuvahmulah Atoll

Up to 3 dives

Fuvahmulah is literally an island in the middle of the Indian Ocean and offers the possibility of encountering large pelagic species such as tiger sharks, oceanic manta rays, and more.
We will spend a full day there, enjoying three unforgettable dives.

DAY 10

Addu Atoll

Up to 3 dives

Depending on your return flights we will make 2 to 3 dives in Addu atoll including a manta point and a wreck located in this atoll.

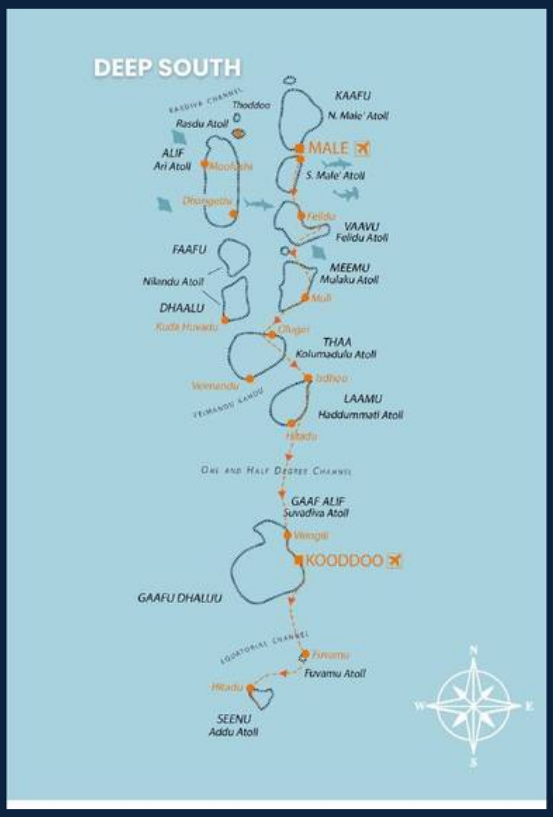

DAY 11

Disembarkation

After breakfast on board, the crew arranges your transfer to the airport at Gan, where you take your flight.
Guests disembark between 08:00 and 08:30.
There is no diving today.
